

Helping you develop your business

Your e-business health check

Use The Watershed to "health check" your e-business systems and advise on your needs

What you get

Your business uses computers, printers, hardware and software — but are you getting the best out of them?

- Do you have the time, enthusiasm and skill to assess how well your technology is serving your business?
- Do you and your team have the expertise to identify how to gain new business benefits through better use of technology?
- Are you aware of the new ideas, new programs and new technology introduced since your last IT update? Or could you needlessly be missing out?

The Watershed, with more than 15 years experience of helping small businesses, can help

The Watershed offers an on-site "health check" to discover just how well your company is coping.

A member of our team will work with you to look at your business and your IT in terms of where you are now and where you want to go.

Then you will receive an analysis of where your problems are, how to fix them and what action is needed to ensure your IT can support your business now and in the future, it will also highlight new opportunities to use IT in your business.

The Watershed difference

The Watershed places a very strong emphasis on using advisers with direct experience of managing small companies, so you can be sure they will address the issues important to you in a way that makes eminent business sense.

Overseen by a Technology Means Business accredited adviser (the national standard for Business IT advice), a "health check" is a must for any small business.

The benefits for you

- An IT "Health Check" saves you time
- It solves your IT issues with you and for you
- It identifies opportunities and provides you with an action plan to exploit them
- It brings the skills and expertise which you may not have in your organisation

What the clients say

I will over time implement all of the recommendations, first step will be to buy a laptop and get broadband installed
